EDITORIAL AND SUBMISSION POLICY

The NSUKKA JOURNAL OF HISTORY is published by the Department of History and International Studies, University of Nigeria, Nsukka. NSUKKA JOURNAL OF HISTORY is peer-reviewed and publishes original research from scholars on all aspects of history.

Submissions accepted for consideration will be evaluated anonymously by at least two external reviewers. All manuscripts submitted for consideration must be original works that have not been published previously or is currently being considered by any other publication outlet.

Submissions may include scholarly articles, commentaries, review articles, film and book reviews. Manuscripts must be written in English and must not be more than 30 pages, clearly typed with Microsoft Word Times New Roman 12 points font size, and double-spaced with one-inch margin on all sides. Articles should include a brief abstract, and a short biography with author's full name, title, current affiliation and full postal address/phone/fax/email details of author(s).

Authors are asked to strictly limit their use of underlining and bolding. Tables should be kept to a minimum and should be typed on separate sheets and their position indicated by a marginal note in the text. All tables should indicate their source(s) typed below the tables and submitted in grayscale (black and white) in .gif or .jpg format. Diagrams and photographs or 'Figures' as they are known generally, should be referred to as such in the manuscript and numbered consecutively.

NSUKKA JOURNAL OF HISTORY uses the Chicago Manual of Style 15th Edition. All endnotes must be inserted and numbered automatically as generated by a word processor program such as Microsoft Word. They are placed at the end of the documents as Notes. Do not insert endnotes and numbers manually.

Editor's Note

The Nsukka Journal of History was founded in the 1980s by the preeminent Nigerian Historian, Professor Adiele Afigbo and his colleagues at the University of Nigeria, Nsukka. Although the journal received wide acclaim when it first appeared, it published only two issues. A combination of financial and other factors presented obstacles.

This is the first issue of the revived Nsukka Journal of History under my leadership as editor-in-chief. We are honored to have the opportunity to build on the foundation laid by Professor Afigbo and his colleagues in the 1980s.

We look forward to working with our colleagues in the academy to further the mission of NJH, which is to publish original research from scholars all over the world on all aspects of history. In this issue, we have papers that deal with politics, economy, regional integration, and social formation from across Nigerian universities and Cameroon.

Finally, I would like to thank Dr C. C. Opata, who serves as our Managing Editor, for his deep sense of responsibility and invaluable help in making this revival possible.
